SUMMARY OF NEW CONCLUSIONS OF PhD THESIS

Title: Application of information technology and communications teaching Geography to students of capacity development oriented Primary Education sector.

Speciality: Theory and methodology of teaching geography

Classification: 62.14.01.11

Name of PhD Student: Tran Thi Ha Giang

Advisor: 1.Associate Professor.Ph.D Dang Van Duc; 2.Associate Professor.Ph.D Ngo Quang Son

Institutional: Hanoi National University of Education

New conclusions

1. Systematize and clarify the theoretical basis of the application of Information and Communication Technologies by blended learning model in geography teaching for students in primary education sector based on competence development.

2. Suggested the requirements and principles for applying blended learning in geography teaching for primary education students in the orientation of competence development.

3. Forming procedures for the application of blended teaching in geography teaching for primary education students in the direction of competence development.

4. Building a virtual classroom on Edmodo learning social network to organize combined teaching in geography teaching for students in primary education.

5. Design and manage blended learning in a number of geography lessons for Primary Education students with the support of Edmodo's social learning network.

6. Surveyed the application of information technology and communication in geography teaching for students in primary education.

7. Blended learning in the teaching of geography for primary education students in the direction of compentence development.

8. Verify the effectiveness and feasibility of the application of information and communication technology in the model of blended teaching in geography teaching for the students of primary education in the direction of competence development through Pedagogical practicum .

9. Make conclusions and some recommendations on the application of Information and Communication Technology in Geography teaching for primary education students in the direction of competence development.

Advisor(s)	PhD Student
Associate Professor.Ph.D Dang Van Duc	Tran Thi Ha Giang