New conclusions of the Thesis

- The thesis has systematized and developed the theoretical basis on the management of specialized subject teaching towards quality assurance (developing the concepts of specialized subject teaching and managing the specialized subject teaching towards quality assurance).
- The thesis has found some limitations in specialized subject teaching management. Applying the management measures of CIPO (CIPO model) in the management of specialized subject teaching in specialized high schools will solve the limitations and improve the effectiveness of specialized subject teaching management.
- The thesis has developed several measures for specialized subject teaching management towards quality assurance and affirmed the effectiveness of groups of solutions for quality improvement.
- Several measures have initially been applied in the management of specialized subject teaching in Nguyen Trai Specialized High School, Hai Duong and some positive results have been gained.
- In normal high schools, it is possible to apply the whole process or any individual step, any specific measure in the management of teaching towards quality assurance.
- Specialized subject teaching management measures will be the basis for developing reference frameworks for all schools to develop their teaching management measures that are appropriate for each individual high school towards quality assurance.

- It is a reference document for those who study, teach and apply the CIPO model to the management of specialized subject teaching in specialized high schools.
